Judicial Advertising.
The Springfield Republican publishes editorially the following sensible remarks on advertising:

"Reforms of all kinds seem to be in fashion. The reaction from the craze of speculation and inflation and politics and low moral standing brings with it application of good sense and economy, of better morals and higher tone and soberer views of things. In nearly all departments of life. One of the outcroppings of this new fashion of common sense is in the business of advertising—a lopping off the more expensive and sensational and vulgar modes of putting the things to sell before the attention of the person who buys. The reform was well voiced at a late meeting of the stove manufacturers, where the president denounced the ineffective and expensive advertising that has been much indulged in by the trade, the tawdry lithographs and other sensational machinery, and recommended instead the more exclusive use of the best newspapers. 'If we would make the best possible use of our money,' he continues, 'we should patronize judiciously conducted and responsible newspapers. The newspaper is immediately the best medium open to our trader, the most direct and expert advertiser testifies to its value and in the employment of its columns we would find a means of escape from wasteful, undignified and ineffective methods, to which so many resort in their eagerness to secure attention and patronage.' These are, indeed, suggestions of a liberal and common instinct that are being adopted by merchants, manufacturers and other classes of the community having occasion to engage in either purchasing or selling. Old and well established papers, with conscientious representation of the community, are undoubtedly the most available, the cheapest and most remunerative avenues for advertising. The constitution of a newspaper, the character, the consuming quality, the taste and variety of its readers, their respect for it and the fidelity with which they do their family reading, are facts to be considered quite as much as the mere amount of gross circulation. Then again, as advertisers cannot use all the newspapers, there is the question of selection, and into this enters the extent to which the advertiser is willing to pay more for news, space occupying a certain field and reader unnecessary the use of his local rivals. On all these points there is a field of discriminating intelligence by advertisers who would get the worth of their money, and the conclusions of the stove men are evidently reflecting the thought and action of other classes of advertisers throughout the country."

LEGAL NOTICES.

VIRGINIA.—In the Clerk's office of the Corporation Court of the city of Alexandria, on the 23rd day of October, 1878, the will, of J. H. Thomas, deceased, his wife, Ann Porter, and Anna Virginia Porter, his wife, Arthur J. Dixon, Fannie Dixon, Thomas K. Nease and Virginia P. Selekman, his wife, Jane A. Burke, Emma Burton, Henry D. Burke, George W. Burke, Francis M. O'Goff and D. C. Grayson and Ann Rebecca Grayson, his wife, defendants.
Memo: The object of this suit is to obtain a decree for the partition (or sale and division) of the premises situated in the city of Alexandria, (if partition be found impracticable) of a lot of ground at the northwest intersection of Wilkes and Washington streets, fronting 17 1/2 ft. 7 in. on Washington street and extending back with the width of the lot, 120 feet 5 in. to the same street, a lot of ground of which the late Silas Burke died seized, an undivided half of which was afterwards conveyed to the late George O. Dixon by the devise of said Burke.

The defendants, J. Oscar Collier and Francis M. Collier, not having entered their appearance and given security according to the act of Assembly, and the rules of this Court, and it appearing by affidavit that they are not residents of this State, it is ordered that said defendants appear here within one month after due publication of this order and do what is necessary to protect their interest in this suit; and that the copy of this order be forthwith inserted in the Alexandria Gazette, a newspaper published in the city of Alexandria, once a week for four successive weeks, and posted at the front door of the Court House of this city.
